It is the pursuit of excellence: to strive to be no less than the best — to attain that goal and somehow reach for more.

It is a feeling of elation: to experience that tingling, almost overwhelming sensation — beginning in your heart and spreading like fire — the instinctive human reaction to wanting and attaining the best.

It is the utmost elevation: to smile and know you played on and supported the Division II football champs and other nationally ranked TSU teams — to graduate with the highest academic honors, levels which excel that of the average college student.

It is a matter
of pride:
Troy State University

Free State gardens are the preeminent in the temperate zone. They are a blend of Mediterranean and European garden styles, with a focus on the use of color. The landscape is not only a visual feast but also a source of inspiration for the artist. The gardens are a reflection of the artist's vision of a perfect world, one that is both beautiful and functional.

Troy's community has a history of supporting the university in all its endeavors. This goes not only for athletic events, but for philanthropy projects, pageants, academics and a host of other things.

The Homecoming parade's focal point is in downtown Troy where merchants, children and community leaders gather along side TSU students to cheer for the school. The parade is just one of many times Troy's townfolks are there with enthusiastic support.

City Hall is the sight of Troy State History, as it is the location of the first Troy State school in 1887.

The Trojan pride carries on in an aesthetic sense as well as the way of fine arts and musical departments contribute much in ment. The value found here is not in monetary terms, but rather in terms of personal satisfaction. Both the audiences and the performers gain much in the way of self-esteem. The beauty of art goes on to embody the campus architecture. The Bibb Graves and Kilby Hall are merely two of the school's buildings which serve as a landmark of Troy State history. Continuous landscaping and monumental construction remain key elements in the university's pursuit of excellence.

The Model Student

Individuality was the theme behind the wardrobes of Troy State students. Certainly this idea came from the actions of such super stars as Prince, Madonna, Darryl Hall and Cindy Lauper. However, Troy people have always been known for their unique personality and actions. Where one's wardrobe was concerned, this was especially true.

Returning in the fall, one began to see what is called the "camouflage look." This style is characterized by the jungle hues of green and brown. Army fatigues, belts, and other garments took a fashionable turn. The leopard skin look became big in fashion, but mostly as an accessory item to hats and belts.

Accessories in general became more essential to the entire appearance. Suddenly, women went back to the tradition of hats, an item which was considered a "must" during the early 1900's and up to the 1950's. Belts, in an array of colors, widths, lengths, and designs, served to accent the outfit rather than to hold up pants. Mothers found their jewelry cases ramsacked as their daughters caught on to the new craze for costume jewelry. New "Madonna" bracelets and rings made of plastic, stretching material hit the stores in mass amounts after swarms of fans took to her idea.

The rendition of former popular fashions has brought a "back to the basics" splash (con't on next page) to the clothing world. Denim is "in," but with a new flare all its own and typical of this day in age: the two-tone look. In addition, stoned-wash and button-fly jeans became hot on the fashion scene. Both of these looks were perfect for the college student because they could either be dressed up or down depending upon the student's desired effect.

Spring fashion evolved from the colors its season is characterized by; either jubilant, bright or quiet, pastel tones. From this, yellow, pink, orange, and green florescent colors became extremely popular. Ribbons and clips for the hair, belts, bobbie socks, and even shoes (not to mention everyday wear) took on this flashy personality.

Keeping with the individuality theme, hair styles took an "anything goes" appeal. Both men and women turned to wearing their hair shorter. College students showed favoritism to this because it complemented their "free and easy," out-of-the-classroom life styles. A trendy addition to hair care products was both a can of moue and a jar of dippidy-do which, when added to ones hair either before or after drying, enable the stylist to do new and creative things with the hair style.

No matter where one looked on Troy's campus, students were dressed in the most fashionable clothing around. Troy State which is known for having great athletes, scholars, and beauties may now claim host to great models.

YOU'VE COME A LONG WAY, BABY

Women will never again be ignored in the world of Politics — 1984 made that undeniably true. In 1984 the people of America voted in women governors, women mayors, and for the first time in the history of the United States, a woman was nominated by a major political party for the second-highest office in the United States. Geraldine Ferraro effectively obliterated one of the last obstacles to sexual equality in our society without sacrificing one ounce of her femininity.

A tough prosecutor from Queens, New York, Ferraro handled all the political heat without ever losing her cool. She behaved like the secure, intelligent, politically savvy woman she is, even in the most difficult situations. No longer will critics of women in politics be able to claim that women are too flighty or hysterical or emotional to succeed in the political world. In the 65 years since women obtained the right to vote, only now has one managed to make it to the forefront of the political scene. Although unsuccessful in the election, Geraldine Ferraro will be remembered as a political pioneer who wasn't afraid to run with the big boys.

The national scene wasn't the only place women made strides in 1984. Here at Troy State, Tracy Osmer was elected President of the Student Government Association. Tracy's election showed that Washington wasn't the only place where women were making it big. Osmer's success was a testimonial to the ability of women to handle responsibility in an effective manner. Tracy ran an effective campaign and followed through with a decisive victory. Osmer's administration has shown no lack of capability, and being a woman has certainly been no handicap to Osmer. Her administration worked to reform Dorm visitation at Troy State, as well as introduce the new winter quarter event, "Homemegoing."

The election of a female to the Presidency of SGA showed that in 1984, students at Troy State like much of America, had confidence in a woman as a leader.

There is no doubt, whether in the White House, the State House, the Courthouse or yes, even the Troy State SGA, women have become as prominently represented as they should be. You've definitely come a long way, baby.

Got the 'Spirit'!!

It's a safe assumption that when the mighty Trojans became the National Champions in their division of football, school spirit was given an extra boost. Or one can think of the other athletic teams of TSU and their national collegiate rankings and stand up with pride. While outsiders see the great teams and the advance of school spirit, there is another Spirit at work on Troy State University's campus, producing a different kind of brotherhood from what most people first think of when they hear the word "spirit."

The "spirit" isn't an impersonal, abstract concept. This Spirit is a real person, at work changing lives and creating a love that binds people closer and strengthens more relationships than any human love. The Holy Spirit is a potent force on the TSU campus, and His "personnel staff" includes all those who have decided to make Him an important part of their lives.

This feeling and desire to experience the 'Spirit' is an individual choice. It is not a path students are pressured into following, but rather an independent, personal decision each person makes for himself.

Several organizations on campus spread the Spirit's love and message of a better way to live. The leaders of these groups and the students who participate in them seek to help other students gain a greater understanding of the Holy Spirit and His work in the lives of those who have a personal relationship with the Lord. This message isn't just shared on campus, however; it's taken to other parts of the United States by people like Charleen Heisler from the Baptist Student Union, and overseas by people like Troy Anderson who works with Campus Outreach of Alabama.

"Even though the population of Peru is 99% Catholic, most people don't understand Catholicism; from children they've been raised as a Catholic and that's all they know. These people are eager for the Gospel and totally open to its message; with an average income of only $876, there's no materialism to hold them back." That's how Troy remembers his 1984 summer as a missionary to Peru. The impact of the Peruvian people on Troy can be plainly seen in the fact that he plans to return to Peru in March 1986 for two years of work in this South American country.

Charleen's situation is a bit different, but just as important. Her work will be in Long Beach, California, and will involve moving around from church to church working in various programs with selected age groups. These include Vacation Bible Schools, youth retreats and fundraisers, preschoolers' Sunday School classes, and workshops for the elderly of a congregation. Her message is one of encouragement, her plan one of enthusiastic outreach, and both she and Troy have volunteered to serve as ambassadors for their God.

Music has often been called universal language, and the medium of music is an important part of the ministry of these organizations on the TSU campus.

Through coordinated efforts of the Wesley Foundation (the Methodist outreach program on college campuses), the Baptist Student Union (BSU), and Campus Outreach of Alabama (COA), the contemporary Christian music group TRUTH gave a moving concert in Smith Auditorium during Winter Quarter. Choirs are a source of Christian fellowship and a way of telling others the news of the Spirit's work in individuals and groups; the BSU Choir, the Wesley Singers, the Gospel Choir, and Majesty, the choir from the Christian Student Center (CSC), perform regularly in Troy and the surrounding area. The CSC also sponsored a concert presented by the group ACAPPELLA, open to the students and the public and held during Spring Quarter as part of a weekend program for youth. Music does indeed cross denominational lines and draw all Christians closer to the Spirit.

Most of the organizations on campus offer similar ministries in the form of Bible studies, regular prayer sessions, and music and outreach programs. Always, their goal is to proclaim Jesus as Lord, of their group and of their daily lives. These campus ministries emphasize that anyone who seeks Christian fellowship is always welcome; denomination plays no part in who can or cannot participate. A few of the unusual aspects of, or ministries offered by these groups are highlighted in the following paragraphs.

A unique opportunity has been presented by members of Campus Outreach to the TSU student body in the form of a Prayer Vigil. This Vigil calls on students to spend any amount of time in prayer during a specific 24-hour period, and it has been held the last two years in Sorrell Chapel.

Prayer requests focus on personal needs, the students of TSU, and out "nation under God" and its governing bodies.

THOSE
CRAZY,
IDLE
HOURS

Some TSU students think that spare time must be a wild concept some guy in a plastic bubble dreamed up. Quite the contrary, many find they have time on their hands. Time to burn — if they lay out too long in the sun. Time to look — if they like watching television. Time to spend — if they have extra money in their pockets. Time to eat — if they have the munchies.

Not all Troy students are busy all the time, and, when they are not, soap operas prove to be a favorite way to spend the afternoons. The fictitious characters of Hope, Bo, Marlana, and Stepheno became real friends and enemies as TSU people got into the plot of "Days of Our Lives," "Dynasty," and "Miami Vice" captured the imaginations of everyone who watched them. A graduate student remarked that he still gets up bright and early every Saturday to watch the morning cartoons.

Spending money often is a result of having spare time. A junior from Orlando admitted that when she had nothing else to do or when she gets depressed, she goes on shopping sprees. After a few bad checks and some stern warnings from her parents and her conscience, she took up other habits like jogging and cross stitching to fill her idle hours.

In the Adams Center, the game room provides the perfect place to meet friends and get out of the dorms for awhile. If one did not want to spend their time shooting pool or playing ping pong, the video games and chess boards added more of a challenge.

Eating, a luxury we all indulge in, is something Troy students have no trouble getting down pat. SAGA catered to dormitory residents while many local businesses provided ample choices of foods. However, popcorn parties, a long time favorite, still held the all time high for munch sessions and late night study breaks. When asked what her favorite junk food was, Sherri Musgrove remarked that she picked up the habit of eating chocolate chip cookie dough since she joined her sorority.

Spare time is something everyone has. The way we spend it is an individual decision. It more would choose to take just a little time to "stop and smell the roses," they would discover that college life had a lot more to offer than just all work and no play.

THANK GOD IT'S THURSDAY

Some people look forward to Fridays, others to Saturdays or even Sundays. Here Thursday is the big day everyone looks to with anticipation and even longing.

What does this mean? Well, for one thing, it means the weekend starts early (five in the afternoon on Thursdays . . . at the latest). Also, it means Friday classes are not a welcomed part of the week, especially during spring quarter. And as always, Monday morning continues to sneak up too soon. Not to worry though . . . Thursday is only three days away.

Fraternity parties attract big crowds with promises of refreshments, dancing and familiar, friendly faces. Local businesses also draw folks out of the dorm and into the swing of Troy's unique night life with specials like "Ladies Night" and "Happy Hour." Businesses and school organizations often sponsor bands for the fun and enjoyment of the students and community. Many of these are held in concert at the armory. TSU's ACUB also sponsors big name bands like "Chicago" and "Hall and Oates." Troy students and residents alike are excited by the opportunity to go to Montgomery's Garrett Coliseum.

THURSDAY CON'T

During the fall, Homecoming brings a seven-day weekend to TSU and gets everyone in a festive mood. Winter quarter begins in a frenzy as friends get together to catch up on things after a month of carousing at home. Formals are a large part of the winter's social scene. Most formals are held in Dothan, Montgomery, or Eufaula where the host group holds a banquet and dance. In the past few years some of the groups on campus have made their formal into a convoy to the Carolinas for a ski trip weekend. One fraternity did the unusual this year by celebrating the end of winter quarter with a cruise during spring break.

Spring quarter is alive and robust at Troy State. Beach parties, suntan contests, Greek Week, and pre-dead week bashes make up a long list of "things I can't miss." Weekends definitely begin on Thursdays, if not a day or two sooner during this time of the school year.

Thursday is not just another day of the week at Troy State. It is the week, or at least the beginning of the best part. THANK GOD ITS THURSDAY!!

OUT HERE ON OUR OWN

Students at Troy discover there is a lot more to college than attending class. College also means budgeting time and money. Something everyone — not just college students — find difficult. However, the university does attempt to make this trial somewhat easier.

The book store in the Adams Center provides the campus and community with TSU paraphernalia. In addition, students may purchase school and personal supplies.

On-campus housing facilities have laundry units and vending machines for its residents to use. The only problem thereafter is to keep an ample supply of quarters on-hand and to learn how to wash your own clothes.

Paying tuition bills at the last minute is one thing most students have in common. That is why the business office experiences long lines right before the deadline date. The only other time there is a lengthy wait is when workship, workstudy, grant, and loan checks are issued.

Troy State Gets A Face Lift

During the 1984-85 academic year, TSU's administration hired construction and electrician crews to upgrade the campus. The new baseball field lights were exemplary of the administration's dedication to such improvements. Now, Troy's field is the best lighted field in the southeast, next to Phil Campbell Stadium in Atlanta.

In addition to the baseball field lights, construction began on a new fine arts building, located next to the Adams Center. The building, to be named the Wallace D. Mallone Jr. Hall of Fine Arts, will provide students and professors improved facilities by the fall of 1985.

All across the campus, a beautification drive was implemented as flowerbeds were planted around Bibb Graves, the Adams Center, and Wallace. During the summer of 1985, Shackelford and other buildings were painted.

All the construction and beautification combined made the Troy State campus pleasing to the eye of students, faculty, and visitors alike.

May Day

For the second consecutive year the Adams Center Union Board May Day Carnival faced a major obstacle — rain. Ole' Mr. Sun just could not seem to peep through the myriad of clouds. Certain events were cancelled due to weather. However, other activities were moved indoors, and a gloomy day just could not stop the fun. Jello slurpin' and Mellow Yellow chugin' were two events in which participants faced a major obstacle . . . who could slurp and chug fastest. Entertainment was provided by "Three on a String", and hamburgers and hot dogs were available for participants and spectators alike.

All in all, May 2, 1985, appearing at first to be tainted by rain, turned out to be an eventful and fun-filled day. But, ACUB staff members still could be heard saying, "Rain, rain, go away; you, you are such a pain."

Rain, rain you are such a pain

STUDY AIDS &

Like those at other universities, Troy State students must take time to dedicate to their studies. Most have found that, though the dorms have quiet hours allotted, facilities outside of the dorm are often more conducive to studying.

Tutorial labs in all the schools provide students with the outside help they need. The Writing Center is not a place English students go to have their papers and other assignments written for them. Instead, the facilities and workers are there to lead the students in the right directions and to point out sources for information and ideas.

The computer lab is extremely different from other labs on campus. Though there is someone working to aid with technical problems, computer users do their programs with classroom instructions, personal notes, and help from fellow lab-goers.

The Adams Center serves as a haven for those students who do not need library information or lab assistance. At the couches and tables upstairs, students hold group sessions, lounge, talk, sleep, and STUDY all at the same time. During school hours, the Adams Center dining hall is open for coffee, snacks, and study sessions. However, some students find it difficult to study there due to the noise factor.

All in all, many students admit the classroom instruction time is the best study time of all. With a good, interesting teacher, the fundamentals are taught and built upon.

1984-1985

LOOKING BACK

The 1984 Summer Olympics were officially opened in Los Angeles, California on July 28th. Over five million people attended the games in which 7,800 athletes from 140 different countries competed. The true American spirit shined through as 50,000 served as unpaid volunteers. Unfortunately, the Soviet Union and some of her allies chose to boycott the games as a result of some political disputes. The competition was intense with the United States winning a total of 174 medals (83 gold, 61 silver, and 30 bronze). West Germany and Romania won 59 and 63 medals, respectively. The American athletes who captured hearts around the world included Carl Lewis who won 4 gold medals in track and field, Mary Lou Retton who won 4 medals in gymnastics, and Greg Lougnis who won medals in diving competition.

In the entertainment world, women vocalist hit the charts and charmed the fans with a new, spirited style. Cindy Lauper and Madonna are two additions to the music world, while Tina Turner made a comeback with such songs as "Private Dancer" and "What's Love Got To Do With It". Pop star Michael Jackson's "Thriller" album released song after song of hits. Grammy award winners included Jackson for his fast-paced "Beat It" and the Police for their song "Every Breath You Take." Television remained an ever popular pastime as new shows aired and captivated the audiences. These new shows included the smash "The Cosby Show" and daytime drama's newest soap, "Santa Barbara."

The world continues to demonstrate an adventurous personality, and, as the land and sea have been explored to their greatest extents, the universe is the next step. In February of 1985, the United States launched the Space Shuttle Challenger on its fourth and, thus far, most important trip. Shortly thereafter in the same month, the U.S.S.R. sent up its Soyuz-10. It was carrying three crew members. Those three, combined with the four Americans aboard the Challenger marked the first time in history that eight humans had been up in space at the same time.

Dealing with foreign affairs has been a topic on the minds of all American politicians as well as on those of the general public. Major developments in foreign relations occurred when the United States and the Soviet Union resumed SALT talks for nuclear disarmament. This could have possibly been spurred by the pressure the American public put on the President added to the more open-minded Soviet government which is currently under new leadership after the death of Yuri V. Andropov. President Ronald Reagan and his wife Nancy toured Europe in the Spring as a part of a national plan of the President to recognize those army men and women who died as a result of World War II. Unfortunately, the President was not welcome in all areas, as some of the Europeans opposed his foreign policy tactics in Latin and South American.

As with every year, controversial issues arise which raise an eyebrow or provoke a whisper among the general public. At times the whispers become uproars and big time news is created. This occurred with Vanessa Williams who held the title of Miss America until July 23, 1984 when she ended her reign due to bad publicity and questions arising from a publication of Penthouse magazine. Miss Williams was replaced by first runner-up Suzette Charles. Another controversial issue has been prayer in school. This subject has long caused debate between pro and con forces. On August 11th, a bill was signed by the United States congress to open schools to religious worship.

Politics on the Homefront took an exciting turn this year as the 1984 Presidential Elections created landmarks in United States history. On the Republican ticket, President Reagan and Vice President Bush were re-nominated which came as a surprise to no one. However, the Democratic ticket was spiced up by the addition of the United States' first female when the Presidential nominee, Walter Mondale, asked the New York native, Geraldine Ferraro, to serve as his Vice Presidential running mate.

WHO'S WHO Among American College Students

Those students chosen for this prestigious award are honored with other college students from all of the fifty states and are nominated by a campus nominating committee. This committee is comprised of representatives from the faculty, administration, and student body. Each member of the committee is urged to judge students according to his or her own individual departmental standards. Academic excellence, talents, service to school and community are always important in such a decision while, at the same time a well-rounded representation of our student body. Moreover, these young adults exemplify and enhance the image of American youth.

Troy State's Junior Misses

Since 1979, 56 Junior Misses have graced the TSU campus. In fact, they have almost become part of the university's way of life. TSU provides a special opportunity to all winners of state Junior Miss competitions who come to Troy. TSU offers the four year George C. Wallace Leadership Scholarship to the Junior Misses, which includes full tuition, room, and board. Each recipient is required to maintain a 1.7 GPA. There were four new Junior Misses on Campus this fall. They were: Rebecca Fera, from Puerto Rico, Kimberly Ann Kelley, Montana, Dorothy Joan Brown, Georgia, and Amanda Forbes Ober, New Hampshire. Six former Junior Misses were returning students to our campus. They were Mimi Carpenter, New York, Adriene Slaughter, Washington D.C., Lisa Farrar, Florida, Tosha Spotek, New York, Gloria Lynch, Washington D.C., and Nancy Polish, Montana.

A Homecoming Celebration

Once again Homecoming Day was ushered in by drizzling rain and an overcast sky, but the dreary weather could not dampen the spirit on the campus at Troy State. Lawn decorations went up on campus and off. Spirited students braved the weather to represent their fraternities and sororities, and, of course, the beautiful Homecoming Queen Lisa Farrar and her court were presented together for the first time.

The game began after the crowning of our 1984 queen, and everyone, including an excited group of alumni cheerleaders, turned out to cheer for the Trojans. The unveiling of our mascot T-roy brought even more excitement to an already expectant crowd and the Trojans did not disappoint the crowd as they walked over the Pacers. Go Troy!

Miss TSU 1985

The 1985 Miss TSU Pageant involved days of planning, practice, and nervous nail biting for many. The week of the pageant began with the traditional tea, and the remaining days before the pageant were filled with practices. Choreography, music, and costumes had to be finalized. As the girls struggled to balance homework and practices, the dress rehearsals brought an end to the work and a beginning to the excitement. Everything began to come together.

Miss TSU 1985

The first night of Miss TSU was the talent competition. The following night the ten semifinalists were announced by the Master of Ceremony Mr. Bob Howell of WSFA-TV. Twenty-three-year-old Pamela Love was named swimsuit award winner, and Teresa Smith of Dothan, Alabama was named the talent award winner. Finally the former Miss TSU, Cordella Johnson gave up her position to nineteen-year-old Tresa Hardin. The other finalists were: first runner-up Pamela Love; second runner-up Marilea Carpenter; third runner-up Teresa Smith, and fourth runner-up Diana Hinger.

T-Roy

T-Roy arrived on Homecoming Day wearing the armor donated by TSU's Alumni Association. Right away T-Roy was welcomed to the campus by students who entered a contest to give him a name. Entries were given for consideration to the TSU Cheerleaders who narrowed the number to five. Afterwards the student body voted on the five remaining choices to decide upon Angie Overstreet's entry. One hundred dollars cash was presented to 'Angie, and our new mascot was appropriately named "T-Roy." Ron Pierce informed us that next fall T-Roy will be manned by a few regulars and alternates to insure that T-Roy will appear at as many events as possible. We can expect to see our mascot not only at sporting events, but at many different occasions.

Ingalls Award

1985 Recipient: Dr. Janelle Elrod

Dr. Janelle Elrod, an Associate Professor of Mathematics, has been selected as the recipient of the Ingalls Award for Excellence in Classroom Teaching. The Ingalls Award, given at TSU since 1971, is sponsored by the Ingalls Foundation of Birmingham, a non-profit organization that supports quality teaching in colleges and universities. Nominations are made by the student body, and a committee of students representing six broad areas of academic interest submitted Dr. Elrod's name to TSU President Dr. Ralph Adams for approval. The award consists of $1000 plus a citation plaque presented by the Ingalls Foundation. It is the highest award that can be bestowed upon a member of the faculty. Dr. Elrod has been a member of the TSU faculty since 1979. She has a BA and MA from the University of Alabama.

Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award

1985 Recipients Dr. James D. Kimbrough Cindy St. John Dave Banks

Dr. James D. Kimbrough, Dean of the TSU School of Education, Cindy Faye St. John, a senior computer science major from Foley, and Dave Michael Banks, a senior math major from Leesburg, Georgia are the 1985 recipients of the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award. This award is the highest honor given by the university and is presented annually to a non-student, male student, and female student based upon their inspirational example to others. Dr. Kim-brough was cited for his leadership role in education, community affairs, and religious activities since joining the TSU staff in 1972. Miss St. John is listed in "Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities" and is the current president of Mortar Board. She was cited because — "she exemplifies the highest spiritual and humanitarian qualities all should admire."

"Dave Banks is best known in the community for his role on the TSU Baseball Team. Dave

COACHES

There is no doubt that Trojan football was headed by the best coaching staff around for the 1984 season. Head coach Chan Gailey created a dynasty of a team and staff in his two year tenure at Troy State, leading the Trojans to a 12-1 record — the best in the history of TSU football, winning the GSC title for the first time since 1976, and ultimately securing the NCAA Division II National Championship for the first time. All of this spanned the team's past two fall seasons, winter work-outs, and spring training sessions with Gailey as head coach.

At the end of the season, Gailey was named GSC "Coach of the Year" and "Kodak Division II Coach of the Year." For Gailey, the culmination was being asked to join the NFL's Denver Broncos' coaching staff. He left TSU to begin his new position in February of '85.

At Gailey's departure, the Trojans began their winter workouts under a new head coach, Rick Rhoades. Having already been a member of the TSU coaching staff for two years, Rhoades let it be known right away he would concentrate on three areas: recruiting, stabilizing the staff, and preparing the team for the Fall of '85. Rhoades stressed continuity.

Now the biggest challenge facing the new head coach and the Trojans is to maintain success, one of the toughest things to do once you get to the TOP!!

CENTRAL STATE OF OHIO: The Trojans hosted the first round of national playoffs against C.O.S.U., the team who had finished runners-up to the '83 nationals champs. This fame put extra determination in the Trojans who secured a 21-7 lead over the Marauders by the half. The second half saw both sides on the score path with a final Trojan victory of 31-21. The Trojans exploded in this bout with 579 yards of total offense.

TOWSON STATE: Troy State welcomed the Towson State Tigers to Memorial Stadium for the second round of NCAA playoffs. The Trojans triumphed with a 45-3 win over the Tigers. Scoring highlights for T.S.U. included halfback Doug Brown's TD pass to Rufus Cox and later his 20 yard touchdown run. Mike Turk went in the endzone on a 7 yard keeper, while Cary Christensen passed to Jimmy Haywood and Lee Hollingsworth, leaving Haywood to score on a 5 yard run . . . This paved the way to McAllen, Texas and the NCAA Division II Championship game.

D. Smith

S. Stubblefield

Twas the night of the 8th, the month of December
A game was played we'll always remember.
One Team from Dakota, the other TROY STATE,
They met in McAllen to settle their fate
The coaches and players all set for the game,
To win was their hope and certainly their aim.

While left back in Troy (many fans couldn't go),
Their really big wish was to see this great show.
Our businessmen rallied, they rose to the occasion,
Getting sponsors to pay Channel 4 TV station
To carry the game so everyone could say,
"I saw the Big Game, complete with replay."

Said the crowd from Dakota, "Your trip's wasted, you know.
We'll win just as surely as our state has snow."
The Trojans said nothing, but looked straight ahead
While visions of winning danced in their heads.
They sprang to the field as the ref' blew his whistle
And both teams took off like a fresh fired missile.

On to the field ran boys from each side,
While North and South cheered their team on with pride.
The game was on, the battle was fought,
At the end of first quarter it was 14 to ought.
Our team met at halftime and their thoughts they did air,
They returned 3rd quarter and were loaded for bear.

As clock pendulums swing both to and fro,
So did the scores on the big board go.
It's down to fourth quarter, not much time remaining
Still both teams fought bravely . . . the honor to gain.
"On Rodgers, On Williams, On Hoarstead," coach calls,
"On Lowery, On Haynes, On Smeltzer and Walls."

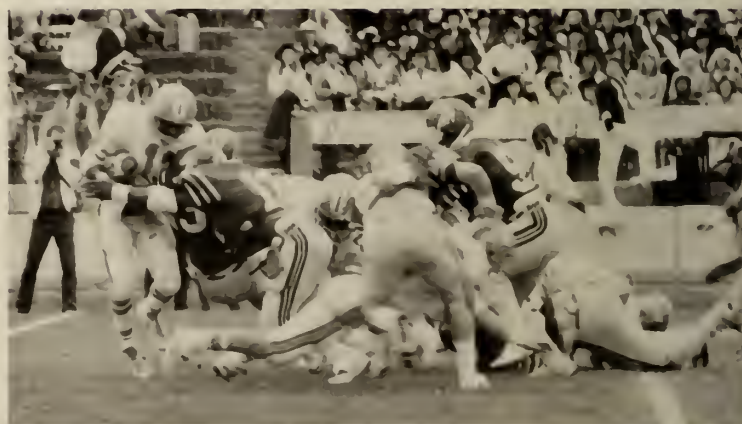

Just nine seconds were left, our team was behind,
When Chan called out "Clem", and gave him the sign.
Three seconds to go, the story did unfold,
When mighty Clem's kick went right through the goal!
It's 18-17! We've won the Big Game,
'68 was the last time our team earned such fame.

I heard the crowd yell as I slept well that night,
We've done it . . . We're CHAMPS, We've won a good fight!!

NICHOLLS STATE: TSU, opening their '84 season against a I-AA opponent, rallied to a 26-7 victory over the NSU Colonels. Highlights of the first game included placekicker Ted Clem's 45-yard fieldgoal during the first quarter which initiated a Trojan advantage that prevailed throughout the game. During the second half, the Trojan offense completed a 7-yard drive, capped by a touchdown from halfback Doug Brown. The Trojan defense held NSU back, allowing only one successful drive at the start of the fourth quarter.

FLORIDA A&M: In Gator Bowl action against Florida A&M, TSU racked up the Bold City Classic in a 17-3 triumph over the Ratlers. FAMU action was limited to a 26-yard fieldgoal during the first quarter. However, Trojan action was more diverse, with a trick play in which Ted Horstead scrambled for 11-yards and a first down, followed by Ted Clem's 16-yard fieldgoal to give TSU a 3-0 advantage. A 38-yard touchdown pass from Carey Christensen to Rufus Cox combined with Brad Simms' TD during the second half wrapped up another Trojan victory.

LIVINGSTON TSU's 1st GSC game was action-packed as the Trojans faced 4th ranked Livingston. The teams fought down to the last minute with TSU defeating the Tigers 35-26. First half action for the Trojans was immediate with Danny O'Toole pouncing on a return kick to drive 65 yards for a Troy touchdown. Freshman quarterback Mike Turk took over after a costly injury to senior Carey Christensen. Turk completed a 70-yard touchdown pass to Jimmy Haywood to leave the half with a 28-7 lead. Haywood opened the second half with a 95-yard touchdown run at the kickoff. With 1:32 to go, nose-guard Mike Brewster made a pass interception, touchdown run to tie up a win for Troy.

WEST GEORGIA TSU maintained its #1 ranking with a 41-10 win to GSC opponent West Georgia. Troy's offensive was sensational with quarterbacks Mike Turk and Danny O'Toole completed 86 yards in passes and with the runningbacks totaling 383 yards rushing. Trojans' defense was on top of things limiting the Braves to only 153 yards rushing, two thirds of which was off of one run.

MALDOSTA STATE: T.S.U.'s fought against conference rival V.S.C. brought home a 27-12 win for the Trojans. The game, held at Dothan's Rip Hewes Stadium, was a triumph for T.S.U. football. The team rolled up 458 yards in total offense, 331 of which was on the ground. The Trojan defense held the Blazers to a mere 19 yards on the ground and 107 passing. This victory awarded T.S.U. the National Peanut Festival Classic trophy.

MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE: T.S.U. faced its first major showdown for the G.S.C. title when the Trojans took on the Choctaws. The game resulted in a battle of the defenses with Miss-College maintaining a 7-0 lead until the fourth quarter. The Trojan offense broke this lead in a 12 second span in the final minutes of the game. Initially, it was tied up with Mike Turk completing a 62 yard TD drive with a quarterback keeper into the endzone. On the ensuing kickoff, a Choctaw fumble allowed T.S.U. to recover the ball and set senior Rufus Cox up for a touchdown pass from Turk to give T.S.U. a 14-7 victory and place the Trojans atop the other G.S.C. opponents.

DELTA STATE: TSU triumphed over CSC foe Delta State with a 35-20 win. Sophomore Ted Horstead excelled during the confrontation with 116 yards rushing, including a 30-yard touchdown run. Split end Lee Hollingsworth caught four passes for 116 yards and racked up 14 points for TSU with two touchdowns of 22 and 69 yards.

NORTH ALABAMA: TSU suffered its only loss of the season against UNA with a 13-10 upset causing the Trojans to fall from a #1 ranking to a #5 in the NCAA Division II poll. Ted Clem put TSU on the board with a 28-yard field goal in the first quarter. Freshman quarterback Mike Turk, a walk on during spring practice '84, scrambled over the one yard line for the only Trojan touchdown of the match-up.

TENNESSEE-MARTIN: TSU's Homecoming brought another GSC opponent to Memorial Stadium and upped the Trojan record to 8-1 with a 31-7 victory for TSU. Quarterback Danny O'Toole had a successful day for the Trojans, rushing for 88 yards and passing for 89. TSU's defense held the Pacers back, allowing only 29 yards of rushing out of a mere 129 offensive yards for UT-M.

JAX STATE: Pitted against arch rival Jax State, the Trojans triumphed with a 42-39 victory over the Gamecocks. TSU ended the first half with a 21-10 lead. Carey Christensen returned to the field as quarterback during the second half after being out with an injury. Christensen directed a 74-yard binge ending with an 8-yard touchdown by Ted Horstead. With less than seven minutes to go the Gamecocks got the lead, 39-35, but the Trojans rallied for a 75-yard touchdown drive, giving TSU the GSC title.

HOSTESSES

The Trojan Hostesses played an important part in the football recruiting program during the '84 season. Not only did they meet recruits prior to the home games and encourage them to consider attending and playing ball for Troy State, but they also continued to recruit during the winter quarter. Touring the campus was part of the scheme to better familiarize the high school senior prospects with the TSU way. The hostesses participated in this by accompanying them on the tours and answering the recruits questions along the way. After the recruits visit was over, the hostesses would continue their assistance by writing a follow-up letter to the prospect. During the spring, the hostess program was enhanced by choosing new hostesses for the '85 season and affiliating them with the Trojan football program.

Troy State's track and field team accumulated 115 points to easily win their sixth Gulf South Conference Championship. Their win was a triumph with TSU winning first place in eleven of eighteen events.

Individually the Trojan team members excelled. Milton Westry wrapped up the discus and javelin competition while Chris Palmer placed first in the 1,500 and 5,000 meter runs. Other members finishing first included: Todd Rainey, Shot Put; Stanley Garrett, 400 Meters; Eardley Jarvis, 400-Meter hurdles; Reginald McClary, Steeplechase; Kenneth Banks, 800 Meters; James Sanders, High Jump; and Gene Williams, Triple Jump.

Troy State was extremely proud to have two Trojan track and field members qualify for the NCAA Division II Championships: Eardley Jarvis in the intermediate hurdles and Kenneth Banks in the 800 Meter Run.

TRACK AND FIELD

The Lady Trojans track and field did extremely well in 1985. Of the twenty-two meets and tournaments they participated in, only two were held in Troy.

The Lady Trojans did not have a Gulf South Conference championship meet because there is no one in the GSC to compete against them in women's track and field. Because of this, each meet is individually important for them as they try each time to qualify for Nationals, unlike the men who qualify at their GSC meet.

As of May, 1985, the Trojan track and field team had six men qualified for Nationals: Jeff Weitenbeck, Milton Westry, Gene Williams, Kenneth Banks, Donald Robinson, Eardley Jarvis. Chris Palmer also qualified for Junior T.A.C. Nationals. The Lady Trojans had two qualify for Nationals: Lynne Brown and Sheri Williams. However, they still had two more meets in which they could qualify for Nationals.

TRACKETTES

T.S.U.'s Trackettes support the track and field teams in several ways. They have been active since 1979 and have contributed by officiating meets and recruiting potential team members.

Highlights of 1985 included the Trackettes officiating for the State High School meet in May.

They also promoted team morale by developing a "secret pal" program. This was designed to give the athletes a "boost."

Track Coach Charles Oliver serves as advisor for the Trackettes. He expressly stressed the need for more girls to become involved in the organization so that the ones who are active do not have as much responsibilities. Oliver also pointed out the advantages of being a Trackette. By coming into contact with as many as three or four thousand athletes and coaches, Trackettes are able to get job contacts, display interpersonal skills, and work with the public

Top President Countess Woody served on the 1984 track and field team. She pressed herself hard and became the first TSU female track member to be an All-American. Now Countess works with the TSU track team as assistant coach.

SOFTBALL

Lady Trojan softball began its second year at Troy State after finishing third in the GSC in 1984. However, things did not look as promising this year, and the team did not rank as high overall in the conference.

The softball program at TSU differed greatly from other athletic programs in that the team members covered their own traveling and uniform expenses. Another major difference was that recruiting was limited due to lack of scholarship funds to attract prospective players.

Many of the members of the Lady Trojan softball team participated in other sports programs on campus as well. These softball players had the advantage of financial help from the university which was not made available to those members of the team who did not play another sport for the school.

All in all, the Lady Trojans had an optimistic outlook about their next season. They all anticipate more support from the Troy residents and TSU students in the future.

CONFERENCE

TENNIS

Improving from last year, Troy State's Tennis Team capped off fifth place this year in the Gulf South Conference, two positions higher. Returnee from last year, John Lane, a senior improved as the season went on. His biggest match went three sets against the Conference winner.

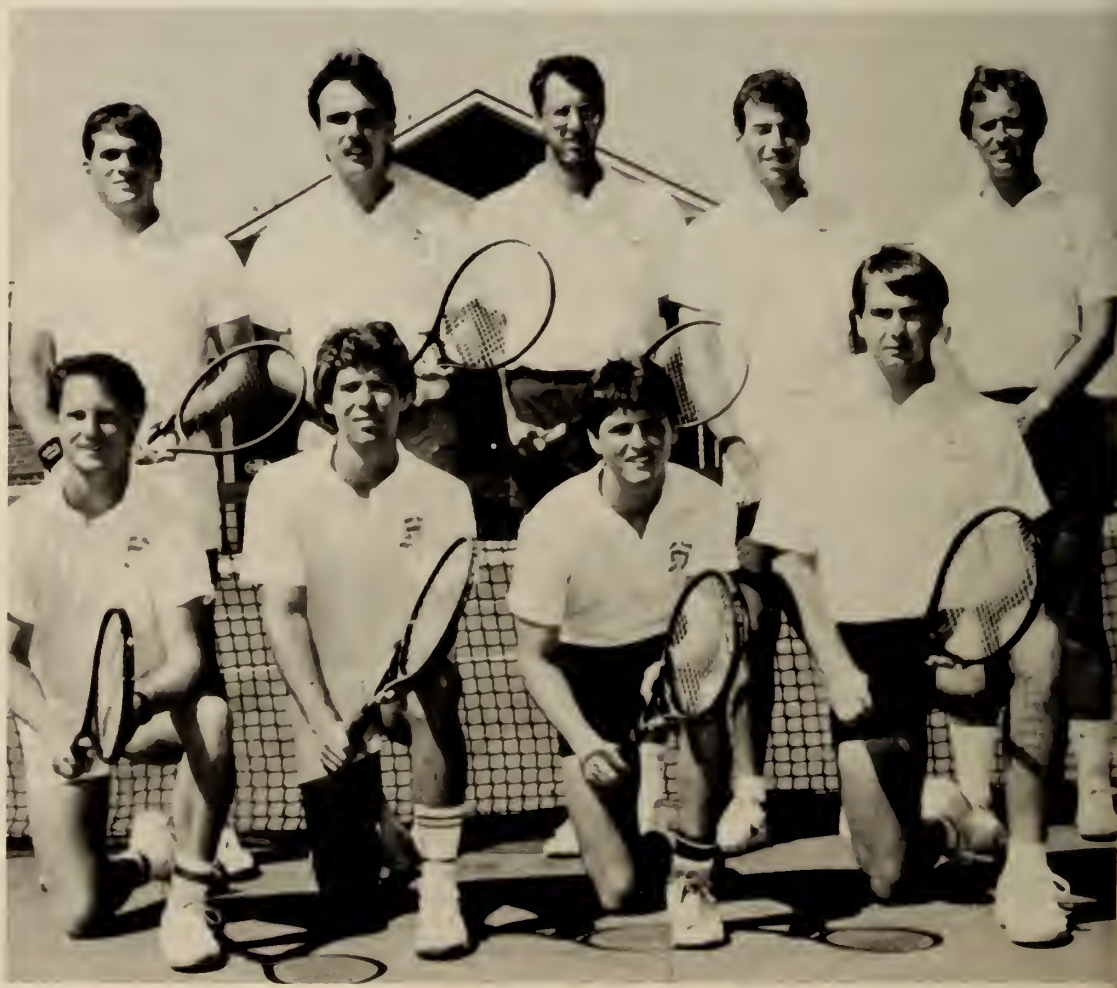

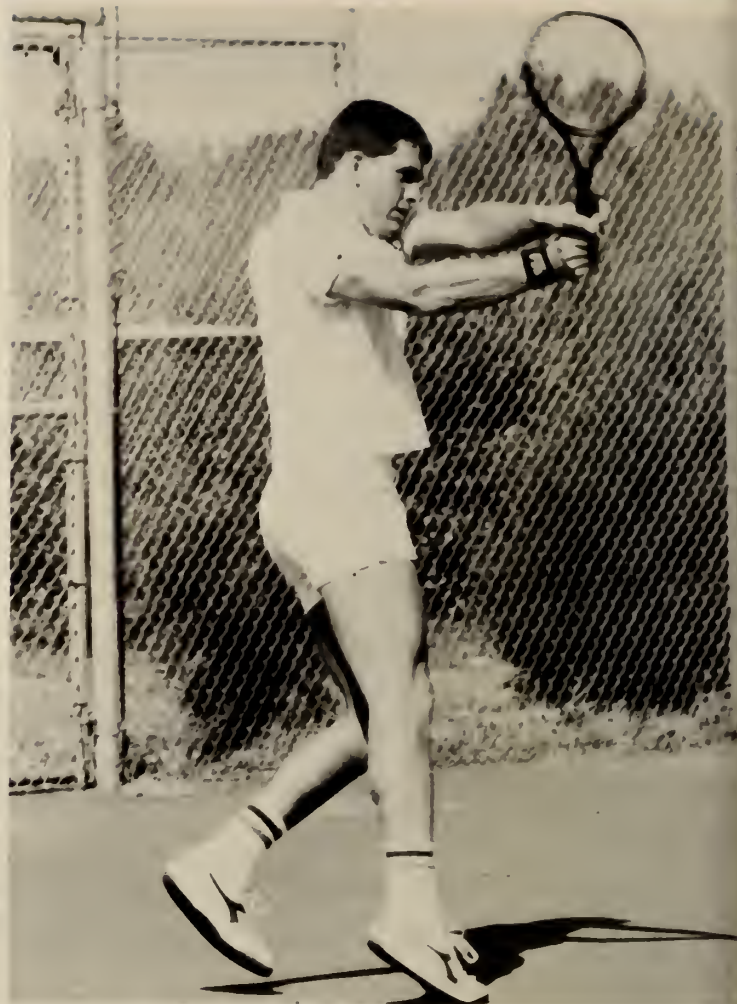

Jeff Koch also played well in singles going two tough sets with the Conference winner. David Good improved his record as the season went on, defeating Wallace Community College's undefeated #4 player.

Newcomers this year include Wade Riley, a transfer from Wallace at Dothan playing at #2. Stan Jones, from Germany, playing #1 singles and doubles, and Dickie Nachman, a transfer from Jeff Davis Jr. College seeded #1 in the Conference at his position. He also held the best overall record for singles and doubles. Highlighting doubles, Lane/Good were seeded #4 at their level while Nachman/Koch were seeded #3.

Coach Dennis Rodgers feels that more financial aid coming in this year could bring in more quality players. He feels that having stronger players in the top three positions will increase competition with other colleges and will result in more Conference wins. Recruiting for the 85-86 tennis team went very well, and Troy is expected to be in the top three teams in the Conference in their next season.

"Lady Trojans Kiai" for an incredibly progressive season." With injuries against them during their initial games, the young team worked together to form unity. Three of the six starters were freshmen; however, as the season continued, each of them gained valuable experience from their playing time, from their older team members and from Coach Sprague.

VOLLEYBALL

VOLLEYBALL

The highlight of the Lady Trojans' season was their victory over Florida Southern. In the many seasons T.S.U. has matched up against Florida Southern, this was the first time the Trojans came out victoriously. WHOOSH!!

NCAA DIVISION II SOUTHEAST REGION CHAMPS!!

The Trojans and Lady Trojans Cross Country Teams racked up victories for TSU throughout their season. Both claimed the CSC Championships with the men holding the title for 11th consecutive time and with the women for their 3rd consecutive time.

The cross country teams traveled to Clinton, Mississippi for regional competition. The Lady Trojans bettered Abilene Christian 45-23 to win their third NCAA Division II Southeast Regional Championship. The men eased by Texas A&I 81-80 for their fourth regional title in five years.

The Trojan golf team began its 1984-85 year under the direction of a new coach, Ron Mobley. Mobley, a veteran Trojan golfer, took over the program which has not finished less than fourth nationally in ten years. With the anchoring of two TSU national championships and being the first Troy State golfer to make All-American, Mobley went into his new position with a strong, competitive returning team and a positive outlook for the golf program.

The Trojans began their season in the Fall with the Southern Mississippi Invitational, placing eighth out of eighteen teams. The team went on to place third in the N.L.U. — Central Bank tourney, first in the Trojan Oaks Invitational, third in the Hart Invitational, and eighth in the Dixie Invitational. Thus, the Trojan golf team finished its Fall season with a promising light on what the Spring would bring.

In Gulf South Conference competition, Jacksonville State proved to be the Trojans' most rigid competition when TSU suffered one loss and one tie to Jax State during the Fall. Troy State hosted the Gulf South Conference golf tournament and finished well. For the year, the team finished in the top ten in the NCAA Division II.

Out of nine team members, two graduated in 1985, Charlie Moller and Randy Mauldin. The team looks forward to having seven returners in addition to top notch recruits next year.

The Lady Trojan golfers broke tradition at the beginning of the 1984 season by heading to Ohio rather than Florida for their opening tournament. Not being accustomed to such low temperatures, the TSU team suffered a disappointing loss. Coach Force felt that this let down set the pace for the ladies' whole year.

Spring's season started out on a more positive note, as the Lady Trojans competed with 17 other teams at Duke University in North Carolina. This tournament proved to be their best of the year, as they finished fifth overall.

The Lady Trojans ended their season second in the NCAA Division II behind Weber State. Though they lost by a mere 4 shots, they proudly placed four of their six team members in the top fifteen in the nation. With two members graduating in Spring of '85, Coach Force looks forward to the returning four to add incentive to newcomers in the next season.

BASKETBALL

Trojan basketball did not fair as well as other T.S.U. sports programs did during 1984-85, but prospects for next year's season look promising.

Many things contributed to the team's losing season. The loss of four starters from the 1983 put a young Trojan team on the court. Another down was that two of the top recruits did not completely finish the season.

All in all, the Trojans can brag on junior Dennis Garrett who made all-conference this year which was his first year playing in the GSC league. He played center for the Trojans and placed third in the GSC in scoring (18.5), fifth in rebounding (9.0), and fourth in free throw percentages (.802). Another plus for T.S.U. was guard Marlon McGaughy who was second in the conference in assists with more than seven each game. He also averaged over ten points a game. With these two men included in a group of four starters who will return to Trojan basketball in 1985, the team has reason to anticipate a better season next year.

LADY TROJAN

The Lady Trojan basketball team made a name for themselves during their 1984-85 season. Under the guidance of Coach Joyce Sorrell, the team finished second in the Gulf South Conference. In semifinal playoffs, they lost to archrival Valdosta State.

BASEBALL

Trojan baseball opened its 1985 season with big shoes to fill, coming in behind the '84 team who finished third-in-the-nation at the College World Series. But that challenge is somewhat like those Head Coach Chase Riddle has faced in previous years. Since 1980, Trojan baseball players have traveled to nationals three times, each time leaving something for the next year's team to strive for.

Returners from the 1984 team include the entire infield less the second baseman. This slot was filled by Ed Nix, who proved to be capable when he took over the slot a few times during the '84 season. Also returning was starter catcher Ray Stephens, third baseman Jeff Brinson, right fielder Chris Johnson, shortstop Greg Frady, and first baseman Dave Banks.

It may look like fun, but cheerleading actually takes a lot of hard work and dedication. The cheerleaders must be able to execute precise movements and stunts which can often lead to injuries, as the Troy State cheerleaders discovered at their summer camp. Despite the injuries, some of the squad members suffered during camp, the Trojan cheerleaders were able to finish both the football and basketball seasons which included cheering for the football team's national playoff game.

Dedication, hard work, and discipline are basic elements for a successful band. To be a member of the Sound of the South not only required these qualities, but also pride in one's talents and pride in the Band's superb reputation. Long, hard hours of practice Mondays through Thursday, learning new drills, music, and routines, proved to be well worth the effort as audiences were kept captivated by the razzle-dazzle of the Sound of the South.

On the lighter side of the Band's workaholic reputation, was the friendship and common bond which made being in the Band so special. Often called the "Biggest Fraternity on Campus", the Band always managed to mix work with play. At their annual Halloween Party, beasts, goblins, and loony characters filled the band room in search of fun and frolic. The fraternal spirit is always a fundamental aspect of the Sound of the South.

In November of 1984, the Band appeared in the Peanut Festival in Dothan, AL. The next stop on the long list of performances was the Senior Bowl in Mobile, AL. In freezing temperatures, Band members managed to "think warm and hope for sunshine." But, compared to the weather conditions during their next performance in Washington D.C., many members realized that Mobile was not so bad after all. The Sound of the South was one of the 7,715 bands to receive an invitation to play in the Inaugural Parade in the nation's capital. The TSU Band was chosen to represent the state of Alabama. With high hopes and excited anticipation, four buses, a van, and a car pulled out of Troy on January 18, 1985, Washington bound. To the dismay of many band students, the parade was called off by Pres. Reagan due to the freezing temperatures and snowy conditions.

However, the trip to Washington was not wasted. The Band was asked to perform in the Smithsonian Institute.

The Sound of the South

John Hillsman, Drum Major for the Sound of the South, was honored and nationally acclaimed for his dedicated years of service to the Band. John was selected Drum Major for McDonald's All-American Band and appeared in Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade and the Rose Bowl Parade. His award augmented the Band's highly respected position as a band for all bands. Dr. Long, the Band's illustrious director, led 250 musicians to be more than just a marching band — but a matter of pride.

Tracy Osmer SGA President

The Student Government Association's primary goal was to spark student interest in Troy State University. "Student involvement," remarked SGA President Tracy Osmer, "is the only way to have a productive administration. Each student should realize he has a voice in how the campus is run." She added, "SGA is not a political group, but a source for students to have answers to problems they face."

One of the major undertakings of SGA was the Homecoming Festival, perhaps the most successful event during Homecoming was the Sports

Award competition. For the first time in TSU's storied history, organizations were urged to make a dinner to burn at the party, a dinner and a skin to promote Homecoming spirit. Under the direction of Neal Stalling, SGA Executive Assistant, the event was a success and hopefully would become an annual project. The Sports Award competition was indicative of SGA's attempt to attract student involvement in the State.

In addition to Homecoming events, the SGA hoped to involve students in campus elections. Flyers and banners covered the campus with "Ballot Box Water" written to encourage voter turnout. Through voting, students showed their interest in having an active student body and representative government.

The Student Government administration was determined to create new ideas for future administrations. Such ideas as a basketball season "Homecoming," more paired parking lots, and student credit unions were being implemented and would hopefully be precedents for other administrations to follow.

Student government committees are where ideas begin. In these committees, senators hear the wants and problems students have. These problems are investigated and soon after presented at committee meetings. Then, from the various committees, bills are written and next presented to the full Senate and are passed or vetoed.

Alpha Lambda Delta is a national society who promotes high scholastic achievement during the first year in college. The purpose of the organization is stated in the constitution to "encourage superior scholastic achievement and ingenuity in those who are in institutions of higher education; to promote scholastic living and a balanced high standard of learning; and to assist women and men in recognizing and developing meaningful goals for their roles in Society."

Society celebrated its 10th Anniversary on November 10, 1984. President Ralph Adams and Dr. Edward I. Barnett were selected as Honorary Members as part of the celebration of 10 years at TSU.

Another special event was the selection of the annual AΛΔ Scholarship Award. Ann Johnson, a Sophomore, was selected as the 1984-85 recipient. Ann's outstanding scholarship, having maintained at least a 2.75 GPA, contributed greatly to her selection.

Sigma Alpha Sigma

Sigma Alpha Sigma (Students Associated for Service) is an organization designed for students who wish to work with people. It is a professional service organization located within the Department of Human Services. Members are primarily Social Workers, SWS or individuals who wish to work in a service area is welcome.

During the current academic year, SAS members have been involved in a variety of activities including service projects, fundraising events, and socials. In the fall, students worked in coordination with the HSU to raise food for local agencies, food closets to meet emergency needs of Troy residents. Approximately thirty bags of food were donated through the generosity of Troy citizens, and these were given to the Department of Pension and Security and Organized Community Action Program. Some members have participated in an Adopt-a-Grandparent program begun by the club last year. OCAP called upon the club for assistance in the spring to help raise money for their emergency service fund. SAS also donated to the Pilot Club of Troy to assist that organization in establishing a Life Line in the community. Life Line enables handicapped or elderly individuals to live independently through the use of a monitoring device worn on their person and connected to the local hospital. Goodwill Industries requested assistance, and SAS responded by setting up collection boxes in student housing to allow students to donate clothing at the end of each quarter. In order to fund such projects, SAS members sold Halloween Spook-a-Grave and collected donations for a box of candy which was given away on Halloween Day. An ongoing project picked up steam in the spring when the club solicited funds from human service alumni to establish a scholarship within the Department of Human Services. Although services projects are a primary emphasis of the club, social activities are important. Students were welcomed back in the fall with a warm toast at Murphy's Park. Mrs. Charlene Nelson hosted a chili supper at her home during the winter which also served as a welcoming party for Mr. Jerome Duke as a new Social Work faculty member. At the end of the quarter, club members gathered at a local restaurant for a "dinner-out" dinner to honor graduating seniors.

Student Nurses Association

The Student Nurses Association is an organization for any student who has been accepted into the School of Nursing and who remains in good academic standing according to the policies of the School of Nursing.

During fall quarter the annual capping ceremony was held for junior nursing students. The ceremony was held at the First United Methodist Church in Troy. Also, during fall quarter, T-shirts were sold sporting a caricature of a student nurse with a large syringe and the caption "TSU Nursing Students get to the point", and a pizza lecture night was sponsored by the SNA with Matt Colley, Pharmacist of Harco Drugs in Troy, as guest speaker.

During spring quarter, a pizza lunch was held to welcome the new Dean of Nursing Dr. Amanda Baker and to meet students accepted into the nursing program for the next year. SNA also held a reception for the RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program). T-shirts were again sold, but these sported a new design of a large heart with two nursing student caricatures, one male and one female, and the caption "Student nurses never miss a beat."

Arnold Air Society

The D. T. C. (Army Squadron) of the Arnold Air Society is a formal organization of young AFJOTC Corps Cadets whose purpose is to promote and further the goals of the US Air Force AFJOTC, and to support the community.

The support is provided in the way of service projects and projects with the auxiliary society of Angel Flight, and the national project, each AAS squadron is required to participate in for the academic school year 1984-85. AAS had a series of successful projects in raising more awareness and importance of the genetic disorder known as Tay Sachs Disease. From AAS raised over $100.00 in a single road block in which bumper stickers, pamphlets, and t-shirts were distributed.

The next efforts of both AAS and Angel Flight paid off in a Casino-style Casino night held early in Winter Quarter. The tables of various card games, hourly state drawings, and the "End of the Night Auction" constituted a successful fund-raiser for the American Red Cross.

Other service projects AAS supports include recreational park cleanup, school ground repairs, and working closely with the school community groups such as the Baptist Children's Home.

Along with community support there is also campus support. And one highlight of the participation of AAS in the recent ACULI sponsored "Social Forum" contest.

The Arnold Air Society, named for General Henry "Hap" Arnold who commanded the Army Air Corps during the Camp David community - AFJOTC - but more importantly - the US Air Force.

Air Force ROTC

The primary mission of the Air Force was to organize, train and equip for offensive and defensive combat operations. The mission of Air Force ROTC was to recruit, educate, and commission officers who will help fulfill the mission of the Air

Force

The cadets at detachment 017 worked very hard toward becoming effective officers through various methods. Regular class instruction ranged from the structure of the Air Force, the development of airpower, the acquiring of leadership and management skills, and the examining of U.S. defense policies. The cadets also attended a weekly leadership lab which taught drill and ceremonies, military customs, and other general Air Force information.

Collegiate Singers

The Troy State University Collegiate Singers is a group of students including music and non-music majors. The group is directed by Dr. William R. Denison, who is the assistant chairman of the music department.

During fall quarter the Collegiate Singers presented their annual Fall Sing. Winter quarter performance was centered on the celebration of Bach's 300th birthday and was entiled, "The passion according to St. Matthew." Soloists from FSU made guest appearances and a full orchestra added the musical touch to an inspiring performance. Also in winter, the Collegiate Singers went on tour in North Alabama. In spring quarter the Pops Concert was held May 1 and the Collegiate Singers combined their musical talents to entertain the audience with contemporary and popular tunes.

Trojan Ambassadors

The Trojan Ambassadors are the elite group of campus leaders who are chosen to serve as Troy State University's official host and hostesses.

Sponsored by the Admissions Office, the Ambassadors may be seen at a variety of functions throughout the year. They assist the President and First Lady at the Homecoming Reception; they serve as usher for the Miss TSU Pageant and the Evening of Dances; and they escort distinguished guests during campus visits.

The most important activities that the Trojan Ambassadors are involved with are those directly concerned with college recruiting. Ambassadors conduct campus tours for prospective students and their parents, assist admissions personnel at college day and career fairs, and are present at High School Day each year on our campus.

The Ambassadors remain on call with all university departments should their services be required. The familiar cardinal blazer of a Trojan Ambassador has become a traditional sight on the TSU campus.

Baptist Student Union

The Baptist Student Union is a Christian organization that promotes spiritual growth through Bible study, worship, and outreach activities.

Local church groups, parents, and friends are just a few of the outreach activities. Missions are very important to BSU. In last year's winter during Missionary Week, missionaries visited the BSU center to share their experiences. BSU also hosts an Annual Volleyball Marathon in order to raise money to sponsor all summer or weekend missionaries from Alabama. In addition, eight members spent a week of their winter break in Savannah, Georgia doing mission work. Eight members spent their spring break in Cincinnati, Alabama for the same purpose.

In February, BSU sponsored a film series by Anthony Campolo entitled "You Can Make a Difference." The music for the retreat was led by Keith Watkins, a local attorney.

Pied Pipers

The Troy State University Pied Pipers have given children all across the Southeast their first taste of live theatre.

The group began as an experiment 15 years ago, to provide additional performance opportunities to theatre students. According to director Dr. Dye, the first year the group performed only twice for elementary schools in Troy. Since that time they have grown steadily and have included 50 performances on their tour this year.

The ensemble, a group of theatre minors and majors, present children's stories without using settings or properties. Actors become walls, trees, or animals to create the setting.

Since its organization, the group has performed for more than 100,000 youngsters in Alabama public schools and at art and craft fairs.

Pre-College Orientation Leaders

Each spring five males and five females are chosen as Pre-College Orientation Leaders. These students are selected by an application and interview process and qualifications include knowledge of Troy State, ability to work well with others, involvement on campus, and a good rapport among students.

The duties of the ten are diverse and sundry. The orientation leaders guide and assist prospective TSU students who come to one of the six orientation sessions during the summer. The leaders give tours of the campus, perform a play for each group, answer any questions about college life, and help

GREEK LIFE

AT ITS BEST

ALPHA DELTA PI

Epsilon Kappa began a very prosperous year with fall quarter filled with pledge swaps and many campus activities. The highlight of fall quarter was having two girls on the Homecoming court.

Winter quarter Epsilon Kappa had its first weekend Black Diamond Formal. Spring quarter was filled with participation in many philanthropic activities with the other sororities and fraternities.

Alpha Delta Pi emphasizes outside involvement. This is evident by the many organizations ADPi is represented in. Some of the dominate areas are the "Sound of the South," TSU women's Volleyball and Basketball teams, Trojan Ambassadors, Palladium staff, Tropolitan, many honor societies and professional organizations. This wide range of involvement displays the individualism of Alpha Delta Pi. Through outside activities not only does an individual improve her character but also represents the oldest and the best . . . Alpha Delta Pi.

CHI OMEGA

Chi Omega has become one of the fastest growing fraternities on campus. In their nine years of existence they have achieved many goals and are striving toward many more.

Chi Omega's are very well rounded young women. They are involved in many aspects of campus life. Chi Omega places particular emphasis on scholarship; however, we also play a large part in other organizations, such as; the Student Government Association, Baptist Student Union, Mortar Board, as well as other groups on campus. We are also active in contests, pageants and elections.

Chi Omega stresses excellence and involvement on campus, but most of all they promote individualism. Chi Omega is not here to change anyone, only to enhance those qualities that make that person who she is.

PI KAPPA PHI

The Gamma Gamma chapter of Pi Kappa Phi had a great year. The Pi Kaps won the fraternity football championship. The Rose of Gamma Gamma Rene Lyles, was an attendant in the Troy State University homecoming ceremony. This years Homecoming party for parents and Alumni was also a big success. The highlight of the winter quarter was the ski trip to Sugar Mountain.

Spring was a very busy time at Gamma Gamma. A few activities of the quarter were the beach party in Panama City, the annual Bunny Contest — spring fundraiser for project PUSH — and, of course, the Pi Kap "Jungle Party."

The Pi Kappa Phi rush program was also another big success as they initiated their 500th brother, within their first twenty years of the charter date. This was a new national record for Pi Kappa Phi.

SIGMA PI

Dedication, sincerity, and personal integrity put Sigma Pi Fraternity in the limelight during the 1984-85 year. The brothers of Delta Psi chapter set their goals high and took much pride in accomplishing these goals.

During fall quarter the Sigma Pi's once again received recognition for their outstanding lawn display, and enjoyed welcoming parents and alumni to help them celebrate the Homecoming festivities.

During winter quarter, the Sigma Pi's held their annual Orchid Ball — a celebration of their national founder's day — in Dothan, Alabama. Sigma Pi Fraternity, International celebrated its 88th birthday this year.

Through the years, true brotherhood at Sigma Pi has prevailed. That is what Sigma Pi is all about. Not the parties, not the sports but the people. Sigma Pi is a close-knit brotherhood.

THETA CHI

Theta Chi Fraternity is synonymous with Brotherhood. The interaction of the group members, appropriately called brothers, is a valuable experience that lets one work as well as play while learning. In striving to attain this experience, the Zeta Theta chapter of Theta Chi at Troy State University has done very well both past and present and will continue to do so in the future.

The rewards and honors given to the Theta Chi Fraternity are relatively immaterial when compared to the growing sense of brotherhood one experiences. In this spirit of Brotherhood, the men of Theta Chi continue to encompass the true spirit of a fraternity.

SORORITY RUSH

The Panhellenic sponsored 1984 Fall Rush Week flew by with little, if any, hitches. For the 120 young ladies going through Rush, the memories they made will last a lifetime, and for those who decided to go Greek, the new sisters they have will add much to their college life.

Rush Week began on August 19th for the sorority girls. They came back to Troy State from their summer vacation to learn the names and faces of 120 perfect strangers who were their potential sisters. Practicing skits and songs, making name tags, and fitting rush outfits made up a portion of the long list of things they had to do to prepare for the rushees. By the time August 26th rolled around — the first day of formal Rush — the sorority ladies had managed to catch up on summer happenings, lose a little weight and a lot of sleep, and enhance the strong bond of sisterhood each sorority possesses. Any sorority girl will tell you that Rush is when you realize exactly what sisterhood means and how important it is in their lives.

For the rushee, Rush Week was four days of hair-pulling, nerve-racking torture. Every sorority at TSU had something great to offer each rushee which made choosing between them even more difficult. On the fifth day, known as "Squeal Day," all the tension of the past few days was forgotten as the rushees-turned-pledges greeted their new sisters with delight and anticipation of their new life within their sorority.

The Interfraternity Council provides a means for the fraternities on campus to unite for the purpose of discussing questions of mutual interest. It also serves as the law governing body for all fraternities.

The Interfraternity Council seeks to strengthen the Greek System, so that all Greeks will grow in size and will develop mature, responsible character as a fraternal organization which is respectful of each individual Greek fraternity/sorority as well as Troy State University communities.

Panhellenic Council at Troy State, an arm of the National Panhellenic Council, stresses Greek unity and strives to promote sorority spirit, leadership, scholarship, and sisterhood. Formed in 1967, the TSU Panhellenic Council has grown from two member sororities initially to eight currently.

In an effort to maintain Greek spirit and unity, the '84-85 council joined all the sororities together in a Homecoming spirit campaign. The combined enthusiasm and hard work of all the sororities won Panhellenic first place awards in the spirit and skit contests.

In addition, Panhellenic traveled to the South Eastern Interfraternity Conference in February and the South Eastern Panhellenic Conference in April. Both gave members new and creative ideas for promoting Greek the system at TSU.

Fall Rush — the life-line of the eleven fraternities on campus — is an exciting time for brothers, little sisters, and potential pledges. A man looking for the fraternity that best fits his needs is encouraged to the various houses, meet the brothers, and find out what each fraternity has to offer.

Because of the importance of Fall Rush, many fraternities hold workshops before school starts to teach and/or sharpen rush skills. A positive attitude toward Troy State and the Greek System is stressed first of all, and then, each potential pledge is informed of the various assets of the individual Fraternity.

One again, a unified Greek System and the absence of alcohol were major factors in a successful Fall Rush.

CHICAGO

On October 20, 1984 Chicago, the dynamic group with an amazing seventeen albums to their credit, entertained an excited and exuberant crowd. Garrett Coliseum in Montgomery was the site for an audience, mixed with Troy State students and dedicated fans, to enjoy the sundry sounds of Chicago.

For the first time in TSU history, the concert for the quarter was held in the capital city. Students piled into buses, trucks, and cars to make the 45-minute drive to Montgomery. The trip proved to be well worth it as Chicago performed such diverse hits as their oldies "Saturday in the Park" and "Color My World" and their summer of '84 smashes "Stay the Night" and "You're a Hard Habit to Break." Percussion, brass, keyboards, and vocal talents all combined to make Chicago a "Hard Habit to Break."

See How They Run is a British farce written by Phillip King. Galloping in and out of the four doors of an English vicarage are an American actress, who is the victor's wife; an American actor, who is stationed in the Air Force in England; a cockney maid; and an old maid who "touches alcohol for the first time in her life." Setting the plot are four men in clergymen's suits, one of whom is a disguised escape prisoner. Each tries to figure out who is the masquerading convict, while the sedate bishop stands aghast at the complex situation which has suddenly erupted. The perplexed bishop is left to decipher a multitude of trumped-up stories. See How They Run, with its who-is-who plot, has been described as rollicking good humor.

Bus Stop

by William Inge

A bus out of Kansas City pulls up to a cheerful roadside diner in the middle of a howling storm. All roads are blocked, and four or five weary travelers are forced to wait until conditions improve. Kim Stanley, scurrying through the doorway in a spangled nightclub gown and a seedy fur trimmed jacket, is the passenger with the most to worry about. She has been pursued, made love to, and finally kidnapped by a 21-year-old cowboy who owns a ranch of his own and the romantic methods of an unusually headstrong bull. The belligerent cowboy is right behind her, ready to sling her over his shoulder and carry her, alive and kicking, to Montana. Even though she tries to resist him, deep inside she realizes she really loves him. As a counterpoint to the main romance, the proprietor of the cafe and the bus driver manage to develop a friendship of their own; a middle aged scholar comes to terms with himself; and a young girl who works in the cafe gets her first taste of romance.

The TSU production of George Bernard Shaw's comedy Arms and the Man was a study in timelessness. The play was updated 100 years, but still followed the script as written by Shaw. The original story is set in 1885 in Bulgaria and tells of an idealistic young woman, Raina, who hides a fugitive soldier Bluntschli is fighting. It is complicated when she is, first, attracted by his practical, dashing nature, then second, he returns to visit after peace is declared.

The TSU Drama Department experimented with this production by updating the story to 1985 and transferring the locale to Nicaragua, while staying with the original script. By the response of the audience, nothing was lost from the script, and the style of Shaw's writing was as natural today as one hundred years ago.

Hall and Oates

Daryl Hall and John Oates' unique blend of rock and soul inspired audiences across the country to musical heights during their Big Bam Boom tour. The ultrasuccessful duo performed Wednesday, February 13, at Garret Coliseum in Montgomery, Ala. The TSU production proved to be a success as fans from all over the area rocked with the dynamic duo. The warm-up band, General Public, gave the fans energy and spirit, which was only heightened by Hall and Oates' performance that followed. So electrified was the audience that Hall and Oates appeared for two encores.

Carson McCullers'

The Member of the Wedding

The Member of the Wedding by Carson McCullers is a touching character sketch of a girl in that lonely state of hopes and fears when she first ceases to be a child. Frankie, an awkward, hot-tempered, and highly imaginative ugly duckling of twelve, feels that the world should take notice of her. She longs for companionship; she must have a "we." Her mother is dead, her father pays little attention to her, and the other girls refuse to elect her to their club. Most of her time she has to spend with Bernice Sadie Brown, the good-natured cook, and with her little cousin, John Henry, a nice, well-mannered busybody of seven.

Life must offer more to her. In her frustration she decides to accompany her brother Jarvis and his bride on their honeymoon. She is heartbroken when they leave without her. Three months later, Frankie has become Frances and the freckled thirteen-year-old football husky next door appears to be a Greek god.

Adapting her novel for the stage, Mrs. McCullers did not attempt to follow the established pattern of dramatic construction. "It is an inward play," she writes, "and the conflicts are inward conflicts. The antagonist is not personified, but is the human condition of life."

The Troy State University Opera Workshop presented Engelbert Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel." The opera is based on the well known fairy tale of Hansel and Gretel. In the operatic version of the story, the children of a poor broom-maker become lost in the woods after leaving home to hunt for strawberries. Night descends upon the forest, but the two children sleep safely, watched by their guardian angels. In the morning they see a sweet little house made of candy and surrounded by a fence of gingerbread boys and girls. Within the house lives a wicked old witch who is planning to make gingerbread of Hansel and Gretel.

However, the wicked witch's plans are spoiled as the clever Hansel and Gretel snare the witch in her own firey oven. The enchanted story ends happily as Hansel and Gretel are reunited with their parents and the gingerbread children are returned to their human state.

Master Harold and the Boys

Cast of Characters

Hally	Terry Milner
Sam	Eric Ware
Willie	Alex Johnson

"Master Harold" is Hally, a precocious white South African teenager, and "the boys" are Willie and Sam, two black men who work for his family, both of them old enough to be his father. It is 1950 in Port Elizabeth, South Africa, and as the play opens, Hally, back from school, stops in at the family-owned tea room, where Willie and Sam are cleaning up — and practicing their ballroom dancing. Hally falls into conversation with the two men with whom he enjoys an immediate camaraderie, familiarity, and affection. And they share common memories — Willie and Sam have been Hally's life-long second family. He also shares his learning with them, as they share the stuff of their daily lives with him. The mood is easy and calm, until Hally learns that his crippled, alcoholic father is about to be released from the hospital and will be home again, where his presence is painfully disruptive. Despite Hally's desperate admonitions, his mother is either too weak or too frightened (or both) to try to prevent his release, and — suddenly angry and frustrated and afraid — Hally turns viciously on Willie and Sam, lashing out at them as he's never done before. In the play's horrifying climax, each character's anguish is illuminated in a blaze of emotional devastation and we are made to understand how the underlying realities of place and time can come to dominate what we do and who we are.

Campus Speakers

enhancing academic life

Campus speakers provided insight into the complicated modern world. Their views on diverse issues opened minds and raised questions to important topics. Distinguished and honored men from across the nation as well as internationally lent their oratorical skills to the promotion of higher learning and better understanding. TSU students and faculty benefited from the speakers' first-hand experience in their respective careers.

In addition to the speakers featured, there were several others who spoke on the TSU campus. Judge John C. Godbold, who has had a distinguished career in the Alabama judicial branch, spoke on "The Impact of the Courts on Business and on Citizens." Thomas A. Nunnally, executive vice president of Southern Company Services — the service organization for The Southern Co., spoke on "Corporate Social Responsibility." And, Professor Firuz Kazemzadeh of the Department of History of Yale University and a leading authority in the United States on Soviet Central Asia spoke on the topic, "Russia and the Middle East."

The Honorable Winston Churchill, grandson of the famous Sir Winston Churchill, gave a public address Oct. 5, 1984 at TSU on "The Soviet Challenge to the Third World."

Churchill has served in the English Parliament since 1970 as did his father Randolph, and his grandfather, Sir Winston, and his great-grandfather, Lord Randolph. Churchill won the Stratford seat for Conservatives at the age of 28.

Churchill's journalism career includes coverage of wars in Israel, Vietnam, Aden, Yemen, Angola, the Congo, and Borneo. He toured China in 1972 before the first Nixon visit and has also made several extensive visits to the Soviet Union.

Winston resembles his grandfather in name and physical appearance but, more importantly, in spirit and mind. He has wide appeal as a journalist and lecturer.

Winston is co-author of the "Six Day War" on which he and his father collaborated. He wrote "First Journey" after a 20,000-mile trip through some 40 countries of the Middle East and Africa, following roughly the same path Sir Winston and his great-grandfather, Lord Randolph, had many years ago.

Dr. Edward Teller

On Oct. 24, 1984, Edward Teller, one of the world's foremost authorities on thermonuclear energy and a former colleague of Albert Einstein, answered questions from a panel on "Space Technology and Public Policy."

The seventy-four year old native of Hungary became a U.S. citizen in 1941 and is now a resident of Berkley, Calif. He is actively engaged in several major research projects including efforts to combat the nation's energy problems.

Teller has served on the faculties of several college and universities including the University of Chicago and Columbia University. He is currently serving at the University of California as Associate Director At-Large of Lawrence Livermore Laboratory.

The Honorable Winston Churchill

William C. Harvard with Dr. Emma Norris

William C. Harvard, Phi Beta Kappa Associates Lecturer, spoke on "The Search for Southern Identity" on Feb. 24, 1985.

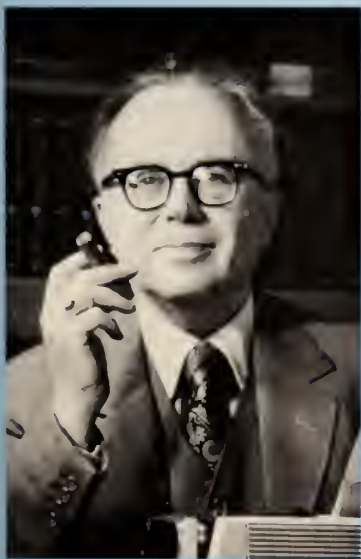

Prof. Harvard is Chairman of the Political Science Department of Vanderbilt University. The widely published author and speaker is one of the regional panelists provided by Phi Beta Kappa Associates through its Associates Lectureship series. His visit to the campus was sponsored by the Southeast Alabama Phi Beta Kappa Association with the help of the University.

Harvard's career has concluded academic appointments throughout the South and in the Northeast at Amherst and the University of Massachusetts, where he was V.O. Key Professor of Government. He obtained his Ph.D. from the London School of Economics and his A.B. and M.A. degrees from Louisiana State University. At LSU he was professor of political science and delivered the Edward Douglass White Lectures in 1978.

Recently he was chosen president-elect of Pi Sigma Alpha, the national political honor society. He also served with novelist Walter Sullivan as co-chairman of the celebration held in honor of the Southern Agarians at Vanderbilt.

He has written a number of books and articles and is the former editor of The Journal of Politics. His major works deal with Southern politics and political theory.

Dr. Russell Kirk

Dr. Russell Kirk, one of the most prominent conservative thinkers in our nation today, challenged a Troy State audience on Oct. 23, 1984, as he has since his designation as a distinguished visiting professor in 1973.

Kirk is a nationally syndicated columnist; his viewpoints appear in "To The Point" in daily newspapers across the nation through the Los Angeles Times Syndicate. The author of some 16 major works, his books include The Conservative Mind, which has sold over a million copies and has been translated into several languages, Decadence and Renewal in Higher Education and The Roots of American Order. The latter book was reproduced as a 13-unit, half-hour television series.

Kirk has taught history and political science at a number of universities and is the only American to earn a Doctor of Letters degree from St. Andrews University. He holds honorary degrees from a half-dozen American universities.

Dr. Martin Feldstein

Feldstein received his A.B. from Harvard College in 1961 and his Doctor of Philosophy degree from Oxford in 1967. His teaching and research have focused on the problems of the national economy and on the economics of the public sector.

In 1977, he received the John Bates Medal of the American Economic Association. Feldstein is an economic adviser to Dean Witter Reynolds and to Data Resources, Inc. and a regular contributor to the Wall Street Journal. He is also director of the Phenix Mutual Life Insurance Co. and TRW, Inc. He and his wife Kathleen, write a column for the Washington Post and Los Angeles Times syndicate.

Dr. Martin Feldstein spoke at TSU on April 9, 1985 on "The Future of Economic Policy." Feldstein is the George F. Baker Professor of Economics at Harvard University and President of the National Bureau of Economic Research. From 1982 through 1984, he was Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers and President Reagan's chief economic adviser.

Ralph Wyatt Adams

PRESIDENT

Dr. Ralph W. Adams was elected president of Troy State University by the State Board of Education on August 3, 1964. At the time, Troy State was a small state supported institute with barely 2,000 students. Today, it is a multi-national University with more than 12,000 students attending classes on campuses located in Alabama, Florida, Georgia and Europe.

A native of Samson, Alabama, Adams holds earned degrees from Birmingham-Southern and the University of Alabama. He also did post-graduate work at Princeton, Harvard, and Oxford University in England.

He was elected to the Alabama Academy of Honor in 1977 and designated First Citizen of the Area by the Chamber of Commerce in 1979.

In education circles, he is known as an innovator. His "university without walls" concept of taking education to the people has been envied and emulated throughout the nation.

In academics alone, when Dr. Adams became president, Troy State was offering its students an opportunity to earn degrees in only four areas of study. Today, it is possible to earn degrees in forty-eight areas of study.

Dr. Adams married his wife, Dorothy Kelly, in September 1942. Mrs. Adams received her A.B. degree from the University of Alabama and her M.S. degree from Troy State University in 1971. Mrs. Adams is currently an instructor of English at Troy State and an Honorary Miss T.S.U. Both Dr. and Mrs. Adams are members of Phi Kappa Phi, Omicron Delta Delta, and Mortar Board.

School of Fine Arts

Dr. John
Long
Dean

In 1963 John F. Kennedy said, "I see little of more importance to the future of our country and our civilization than full recognition of the place of the artist . . . art (music, drama, dance, the visual arts) establishes the basic human truths which must serve as the touchstones of our judgment." Through its diverse cultural offerings, the Troy State University School of Fine Arts provides opportunities for students to find emotional, intellectual, and aesthetic satisfaction as they prepare themselves to realize their life's objectives.

Under the deanship of Dr. John M. Long, the School of Fine Arts was established in 1971 with the disciplines of music, visual arts, and speech communication and drama. With a dual focus on theory and performance, each discipline provides laboratory experiences for examination and refinement of performance skills for the student with professional or avocational interests.

The school provides an opportunity for the entire student body to experience the richness of our cultural heritage through concerts performed by members of the "Sound of the South" Band, operas, operettas and musical comedy performed by Opera Workshop participants, concerts by the Collegiate Singers and Madrigals, visual arts exhibits sponsored by the Department of Art and Classics, a broad range of dramatic literature brought to life on the stage by the University Playmakers and the Pied Pipers, and intercollegiate competition with the TSU Trojan Debate Squad.

Hall School of Journalism

Mr. Merrill
Bankester,
Dean

The School of Journalism is the youngest school on the TSU main campus with a beginning in 1972. But, it is the fastest growing journalism school in the State of Alabama with over 250 majors reregistered in the fall of 1984.

The School offers two areas of concentration news — editorial and broadcasting. Broadcasting courses were offered for the first time in 1975 and now students produce their own nightly news show as well as other shows at a fully equipped campus Television station.

Students in the journalism program have the opportunity to train at the campus television station as well as on the campus newspaper which is a weekly newspaper, and the school's yearbook.

A vital part of the journalism major is an internship program which is required of all students. The students must spend one quarter during his or her senior year at a newspaper, television or radio station, or public relations office.

As an additional aid to the student's education, the School of Journalism sponsors a symposium each spring whereby outstanding and nationally recognized journalists come to the campus to participate in seminars. Also, an endowed Chair of Journalism was established in 1980, thus, giving the students another means of contact with those in the profession.

In order to involve students more with the field of journalism, a chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi, was established in 1975, and a chapter of Alpha Epsilon Rho, the National Broadcasting Society, was chartered in 1981.

PALLADIUM STAFF

"A Hard Working Group"

The Palladium has been called, hardheaded, hard to get along with, but most of all, hard workers. This years staff had a tough act to follow but proved they could do it with ease, despite their young experience. To be on the Palladium staff takes, giving 100% to many long hours of identifying pictures, writing copy and creating layouts. The results of all this hard work and dedication? . . . headaches, failed classes, bitten fingernails, dark circles, no sleep, and little social life, but most of all, self satisfaction and a book that captures memories for life.

The University Student Publications Board (USPB) serves as a policy setting Board whose chief responsibility is to exercise supervision over the Tropicopolitan, the Palladium, and any other University publication the President of the University places under the Board's jurisdiction.

The USPB promotes the highest standards of journalism in the operation of student publications under its jurisdiction. The Board also ensures that those publications are responsive to the concerns and needs of the University community. Also the Board assures that these publications operate in the spirit of fairness, decency, truthfulness, and accuracy including the correction of errors in factual reporting previously disseminated.

The USPB assures the publications freedom from censorship and the editor of those publications the right to develop their own editorial policies and news coverage. The USPB serves as a management board. The Board selects, employs, and terminates the editors and business managers of the Tropicopolitan, the Palladium and any other University publications placed under its jurisdiction. Similarly, the Board also supports those editors and managers against arbitrary suspension and removal because of student, faculty, administrative or public disapproval of editorial policy or content.

As I look back on this year, I can truly say being Editor has been an experience I will never forget. I have learned a great deal about responsibility, the University, and myself.

Being satisfied with yourself and proud of your accomplishments is to me one of the greatest rewards possible. A poem I once read describes this:

When you get what you need in your struggle for life
And the world makes you long for a day
You go for a walk and look at the stars
And see what that man did in life

For you'll find that the world is not what you thought
Where wisdom is not what you thought
The world where wisdom counts more in value
Is the one where the man is the best

Some people may think you a thoughtless fool
But you are a thoughtful man
But the man in the glass says you're only a fool
If you can't look out straight in the eye

He's the fellow who gives the meaning of the word
For him with you clear up to the end
And you've found your most important friend
Is the man in the glass is your friend

You may find that when you're in the corner of life
And get out of your back in your game
The man and reward will be the man who
I've found the man in the glass

I would like to express my thanks to my Associate Editors, Business Manager, and staff for a job well done. A special thanks goes to Jacqueline Smith, our Advisor for her continuing dedication and support,

Thank you for this opportunity. PATA.
